Care "HUBS"?! Why the (DIS)Integrated Service Model is Already a Failure

January 29, 2021

Even on paper, where without messy reaity to interfere, it's easy to look good, the model looks BAD because it's so complicated as to be impossible. It's ill-conceived and hopelessly unweildy. It not only won't work. I cannot work.

Least of all here.

It's called "Accountabiltiy Framework," but whre is it ever even apparenty ACCOUNTABLE to the reality of seniors-designated housing?

Where does it effectively address the problems we have with [illegible] (but not over-done) policing, not of peaceable tenants by bad managers attempting to silence their critics, but of real miscreants? Nowhere!

Edit Stats

Where does it address problems like "takeovers" of seniors' apartments by thugs and gangsters? Nowhere....

Where does it address the failure of staff, the so-called Tenant Services Coordinaor in particular, to simply do the job mandated by the position and curtail disruptive and illegal activity, by enforcing the terms of the lease? Nowhere....
